NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—General Sherman will submit no extened report on the army this year. During the year to come he may have an opportunity to supply some ideas picked up by observation in foreign establishments.

Horse Disease.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The horse disease is rapidly abating. The streets seem to have the usual number of horses. Large numbers, however, still show slight symptoms of the distemper. There was not so great mortality yesterday as Saturday, but many deaths have occurred since the disease first began. It showed in Brooklyn yesterday new and alarming symptoms, swelling of the legs, blood from the nose and ulcerated throat; twenty deaths.

Health of Chief Justice Chase.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—It is stated that bad health prevents Chief Justice Chase from attending to business. Unless he improves, he will take a trip to the Pacific coast.

Preaching on the Election.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The forthcoming election occupied the attention of many preachers of this city yesterday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—There is some excitement at Westchester over the discovery of gold quartz there.

Church Floor Gives Way.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—While the rite of Baptism was being performed in a Baptist Church at Evanston yesterday, in the presence of a large congregation, a portion of the floor gave way, precipitating one half of the assembly a distance of fourteen feet to the ground. Singularly, only four or five people were at all hurt—only two of them severely.

Horse Disease in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—The horse disease presents no new feature. Scarcely a horse is to be seen on the streets. A number of ox teams appeared this morning attached to heavy trucks of wholesale houses.
Weather cloudy and cold, but dry.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Sheriff Adams has offered a reward of $4,000 for the capture of the Brothertons. It is reported that Governor Booth will add $2,000 to the amount, and private parties in the city will increase it to $10,000.
R. M. Lee, one of the attorneys for the Brothertons, and who was indicted for contempt, was delivered into custody by one of his bondsmen and went to jail, but gave a new bond and was released.
The Mint and Sub-Treasury will not be closed to-morrow.
Rain ceased about 2 P. M. Weather now clear.
The demands for duties the past week were $164,287 17.
There are 28 vessels in port at present to load with wheat, with an aggregate of 27,490 tons. There are also two ships and two barks which may load with wheat.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

VICTORIA, Nov. 4.—The H. B. Co.'s ship Princess Royal, arrived here yesterday from London, 140 days from land to land.
Seven o'clock to-morrow morning has been fixed as the hour when Boll, convicted of the murder of Datson in Nanimo some months since, is to be executed. This will be the first instance in which a white man will have suffered in this city the extreme penalty of the law.
Further dispatches from San Juan Island, show the murderers of Fuller, to have been Fort Stein Indians.
The steamer California arrived here yesterday from Portland via Puget Sound.
Weather clear and calm.

FISHES' EYES.—The eye in the lancelet and the bag is of the simplest form, consisting of a nerve termination coated with black pigment and capable only of perceiving the presence of light. In young lampreys, while they remain buried in the sand, the eyes are very minute and undeveloped; but when they reach the adult period these organs are developed to an average size. In the majority of fishes the eyes are admirably adapted to the purpose of vision, in water, and in the four-eyed fish of South America, not only are the eyes very perfect, but they are also divided into an upper and lower portion, giving them the appearance of two pupils and enabling the fish to pursue its prey when out of as well as when under the water. In the cat fishes the greatest variety is found in the size and arrangement of the visual organs, from the large eyes on the sides to minute ones placed on the upper surface of the head. In some of the members of this family they are so buried under the skin or incased in folds of cartilage as to be of little or no use.—From Nature and Science, Scribner's for November.

"Ouida," the authoress—according to a correspondent of a New York paper, who for some time lived in the same house with her—is as eccentric as her writings. She is middle aged, plain, but weird looking, but dresses in the most bizarre fashion. Her associates are entirely clergymen. She makes pets of various uncanny animals, surrounds herself with all manner of curious objects, keeps the most irregular hours, and is, altogether, a wonderful specimen of humanity.

The latest advices from England give encouragement for a good foreign market for American produce. The deficiency in the crop is stated at twenty per cent. of the actual yield, and the wheat requirements of the United Kingdom for the harvest year ending with next August at about 85,000,000 bushels. The deficiency in the potato crop in the Kingdom is said to insure a good market for the heavy surplus of the United States.

The ill-fated Empress, Carlotta, will leave a fortune of five million dollars, which will be inherited by her brothers, the King of Belgium, and the Count of Flanders. She had vainly tried to take her capital with her to Mexico. Her brother, the King, refused to let her have it, and he paid only the interest. Her father, King Leopold I., left his children a fortune of fifteen million dollars cash.

OREGON.

The "tootists" of Dallas have begun to practice and will soon style themselves the Polk County Brass Band.

B. M. Watts was the first resident of Yamhill to make the round trip to Portland on the cars from St. Joe.

There arrived at Roseburg on last Saturday, the first freight train passing over the railroad to that place. It consisted of six cars all loaded.

At the November terms of the Circuit Courts for the First, Third and Fourth Judicial Districts in this State, the divorce suits number forty-one.

The Circuit Court began a term in Douglas county on Monday. There were 14 civil, and four or five criminal cases on the docket. Five of the former were to cover the matrimonial knot.

The streets of St. Joe were thronged with people last Saturday, to witness the first appearance of the locomotive at that place. Some of the spectators on that day saw a railroad car for the first time in their life.

The Pantagraph says: "Emmigrants are daily passing through Roseburg, bound for the Coquille country. This portion of the country now offers better inducements for settlers than any other part of Oregon."

A correspondent at St. Joe, Yamhill county, writes that the recent rains have softened the soil so that the farmers are busy turning stubble and new land for grain, and that, if the fall is mild, a greater number of acres will be sown in the country than ever before.

The following business was transacted at the Land Office in Roseburg, during the month of October. Cash sales, 2,360 acres; pre-emption filings, 4,000; A. C. S. locations, 1,280 acres; land warrants, 120 acres; Homestead applications, 4,190 acres; final homestead entries, 2,627 acres.

TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 5, 1872.

The Greeley Anodyne.

No person who recognizes the great importance, especially in a Republic, of having the sentiments of the people in harmony with the administration of the Government, will deny that the condition of affairs in the Southern States of the Union, since the close of the civil war, has been extremely unfortunate. The prejudices against the North, that were carefully and artfully inspired and fostered in the minds of the Southern people for a generation before the commencement of the great rebellion, could not have been dispelled in a single year, nor during a single Presidential term, even under the most favorable circumstances. And the Southern heart did not receive in the war the most appropriate preparation for a cheerful resignation to the situation in which the triumph of the arms of the Republic placed the people of the insurrectionary districts. One can scarcely imagine that the administration of the Government in those districts could have been so conducted for the last few years, as to be more satisfactory than it has been. The bitter memories of the war, burdened not only with the feeling of public humiliation and disgrace, but also with the more poignant grief of private bereavements which were carried into almost every household, could not but produce and sustain an unfriendly disposition to the Government of the United States. At the close of the war, thoughtful persons did not expect the immediate return of tranquility and good order in the South. They knew that not months but years, must intervene before the "bloody chasm" would be closed and its scars all obliterated. And they thanked the Providence that had ruled over and overruled the course of the nation until the sin of human slavery was purged out of the country, that the man who had occupied the chair of the executive head of the nation during the armed contest, was as good as he was great; for feeling an abiding faith in the wisdom of his plans and the benignity of his purposes, they trusted more in the spirit of conciliation on the part of the Government, to heal the wounds of the war, than in the rigid execution of the laws. Their hopes were doomed to disappointment. The assassin's bullet gave the destinies of the nation for the next four years into the hands of one who, when weighed in the balance, was found sadly wanting. Deserting the party that had placed him in a situation to become the accidental President of the United States; abandoning the policy that had carried the country safely through the darkest hours it had ever seen; turning his back upon the friends of the Government, and allying himself, in a league offensive and defensive, with its most pronounced and bitter enemies, President Johnson soon came to be regarded by the evil doers throughout the South as their high tower of strength; and whatever of a disposition to submit peacefully to the inevitable consequences of the war, had been manifested immediately upon the surrender of the rebel armies, quickly disappeared, giving place to an organized resistance to the enforcement of the laws of Congress, and to the most flagitious outrages upon the freedmen, and all who manifested any friendship for them or their rights. The condition of affairs in the South was worse than it had ever been before. The disorders were confined to no particular locality, nor to the cities. In every section of the country, and in almost every neighborhood, scenes were enacted which eclipsed the old terrorism of the slave power. The President, meanwhile, sitting at the national Capital with the weapon of his veto, struck down the legislative power whenever it attempted to check these disorders.

So matters went on from bad to worse, till the election of General Grant to the Presidency enabled the Congress to enact laws for the better government of the South, and to punish those who were found committing outrages upon its citizens.

When Grant was inaugurated the state of feeling among Southern people was much worse, so far as its preparation for a perfect restoration of that section of the country to harmonious relations with the Federal Government was concerned, than it was at the close of the war. The adoption of stringent measures was discovered to be a necessity, and the measures commonly known as the Ku Klux laws were enacted by Congress and enforced by the President. Ever ready to be just and even generous toward the misguided people of the South, the Government only demanded of them, that the laws of Congress which were cheerfully obeyed in other parts of the Union, should not be wantonly trampled upon by them. This was all the Government asked, and it did not hesitate to take such steps as would secure compliance. Amnesty for past offences, and safety from future ones, has been the key note of Grant's Administration of the Government in the Southern States, from the day of his induction into office.

But the arrogant spirit of the South which had been encouraged by President Johnson, would not down at the bidding of any one—at least, not without protest. So we have, for the last two or three years, heard a constant din of denunciation and complaint, and public clamor against the President as a usurper, a despot and a tyrant. And we are told that the disorders of the South can never be wholly quelled till some person less obnoxious to the Southern people than General Grant, is seated in the Presidential chair, and that Horace Greeley is just that person. The reign of peace is to begin with the inauguration of the "philosopher, statesman and philanthropist". The lion and the lamb are to lie down together, and there is to be no North, no South, no territorial boundaries, in the affections of this great people, by reason of the election of Mr. Greeley.

Every intelligent person knew from the first how false were the clamors against Grant, and how absurd the idea that Greeley, or any other man, can bring order out of the confusion of the South, until time which at last sets all things even, shall have covered up the bitterness of the bitter past. If this happy event could be brought about through the election of any man, that man is not Horace Greeley. What effect has his nomination had upon the Southern people? Has it allayed the spirit of insubordination? The raising of a rebel flag in Palmyra, Missouri; the mobbing of Republican speakers in Russellville, Arkansas; the destruction of a Republican newspaper office at Carroll, Louisiana, all within two weeks past—answer the question. The name of Greeley is not the panacea that is needed for the cure of Ku Kluxism.

We vote by ballot now; so no one need stay away from the polls, thinking he would have to stand in line an hour or two, if he went there, waiting an opportunity to vote. It will be done up rapidly to-day.

The Bulletin Cornered Again.

In the OREGONIAN of last Saturday, after quoting the freight charges for different classes of freight on the Central Pacific Railway from Ogden to San Francisco, according to the new tariff adopted by the Central Pacific Company—the same quotations we had published the day before—we added: "These are the same quotations we have heretofore given when referring to merchandise generally." To which the Bulletin of yesterday morning replied, with its usual manifestation of good nature, as follows:

Now that is an unqualified and wanton falsehood. The OREGONIAN had never, before the issue of Saturday last, given the quotations of freight there specially mentioned. We challenge the editor to cite the publication of those rates of freight in the OREGONIAN prior to last Saturday. The truth is the Central Pacific Company did not establish those rates until about a fortnight ago, and the OREGONIAN never published them until it did so last Saturday. Accordingly, the editor, as we say, uttered an unqualified and deliberate falsehood when he stated that "These are the same quotations [i. e., rates of freight] we have heretofore given, when referring to merchandise generally."

The quotations referred to were published in a prominent place in the editorial columns of the OREGONIAN of Friday, Nov. 1st. We simply stated the truth when we stated in Saturday's paper that we had published them before. We published them Saturday the second time.

We will not say the editor of the Bulletin has "uttered an unqualified and deliberate falsehood" in this matter, for he may have thought he was telling the truth; but the statement of the Bulletin is nevertheless untrue—just as untrue as it would be possible to make it by the most thorough deliberation.

We do not know how it is with the Bulletin, but the OREGONIAN has not for a good many years regarded it as a very extraordinary feat to get news from California inside of a fortnight.

A Toronto paper says the horse disease, which originated in that city, and has spread throughout the Northern and Eastern States, is "a catarrhal fever, the result of some atmospheric influence, and no kind of horse appears to be exempt. The premonitory symptoms are heaviness, watery discharge from the nose, and a severe hacking cough: the pulse is quickened and the mouth hot, the nasal membranes are injected and the ears and legs are unnaturally cold, the discharge from the nose increases and becomes of a greenish-yellow color, the breathing is increased, and in some cases labored and severe. The fact that the disease has manifested itself in private stables shows that it is not caused by any local difficulty, but is in the atmosphere."

Hon. W. W. Bristow, State Senator of Lane county, writes us that the Democracy in that county are making no effort for Greeley, and that the Republicans are sure to carry the county by a large majority. We are receiving similar news from different sections of the State. A friend in Grant county writes that, notwithstanding there is some little dissatisfaction in that county in regard to State politics, the party is harmonious in the Presidential contest, and will return a handsome majority for Grant and Wilson.

The Fusionists over in Washington Territorry, have conducted their campaign in strict conformity to the plan of the Presidential contest. They have no principles to advocate, and nothing but calumnies against the Republicans to rely upon for success. To-day it is hoped will prove to them that such a campaign can never be successful among intelligent people.

The highest freight tariff on the Oregon and California Railroad, from its southernmost depot to Portland, is only fifteen dollars per ton.—Bulletin.

First-class freight on the Oregon and California Railroad, as shown by the company's own tariff circular, is twenty dollars per ton from Oakland, and third class is fifteen dollars per ton.

The old billiard Congress of Massachusetts the other day adjourned sine die, the members having voted to form a new Congress. The champion billiardist, who had captured the champion cue of the State, and whose name is Dennison, resigned the cue into the custody of the new Congress to be played for again.

It is not the right only, it is the duty, of every citizen to vote. A man's vote is all he can give to the cause of his country in the election, but sometimes that single ballot has in it the destinies of the State. Who can say his vote may not be the one that elects.

Your vote is equal to that of any other Republican, and if you are justifiable in neglecting to cast yours, all the rest have the right to act in the same manner, and let the Greeleyites have the State.

A vote for Grant and Wilson is so much given for the permanent ascendancy of the Republican party. Our success in the future will be largely influenced by the majority we give to-day.

A man who stays away from the polls on election day, may be satisfied with himself at the time, but he is sure to feel sorry for it afterwards.

The St. Paul Press mentions the arrival at that city of the North Pacific Railroad party, on the return from this coast.

You can very well afford to leave your business long enough to vote, if your vote isn't absolutely necessary.

Attorney General Williams has taken an active part in the Presidential canvass in Virginia.

To-day the people of the United States will "Put Horace in his little bed."

The telegraph line gave way last night, before the dispatches were all in.

M. THIERS AND HIS DRESSING GOWN.—Not many days ago M. Thiers received from his Paris tailor a handsome dressing gown. When the parcel was handed to the President there were three women present: his wife, his sister-in-law, and a friend of theirs. The President tried it on, and found only one fault with it, namely, that it was somewhat too long, and suggested that it was a fault which might be easily remedied at home without sending it back to the tailor. To this the women assented. Mme. Thiers wished to surprise her husband, and contrived during the course of the evening to shorten the dressing gown and laying it back in its place unperceived. In her hurry to do it quickly she did not notice that her sister had been beforehand with her and had already completed the task. Later on in the evening the friend stole away from the company and carried out the idea she had planned in her own mind of being the one who should perform this pleasing duty. Next day M. Thiers called for his dressing gown, and all three women chimed in, "It's quite ready." It was brought and tried on once more, but this time the President had not to complain of undue length, as it resembled a shooting coat more than a dressing gown in its shrunk proportions.

The Fight in Clarke County, W. T.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4, 1872.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The Register of last Saturday gives what purports to be a review of the candidates of the opposing tickets in this county. The article makes false and unfounded charges, such as we had hoped would not have been made during this campaign. The Republicans have resorted to no unfair means to carry the election, and after once presenting the names of their candidates, with a true statement of their qualifications for the respective offices to which they aspire, without a word derogatory to the character or capacity of their opponents, had determined to let the people say at the ballot-box whom they wanted and whom they did not. Nor has the untruthful and wholly unwarranted attack of the Register altered their previously formed intention in this respect. It we cannot win without blackening the private character and impugning the official integrity of the candidates opposing us, without giving the proofs to support the charges, then we say let defeat come. It would be impossible in this limited space to point out even a tenth of the misstatements made by the Register; suffice it then to say that our candidates are all men of honor and capability, and will, by their official acts, prove how grievously they have been maligned.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

Mr. Fletcher, candidate for District Attorney, is well known among us; his ability will be estimated by those whose suffrages he asks. His record as Register of the Land Office is before the people, and he is willing to have it made public. His sharp practice may be needed, and doubtless will be, if those who concocted the article in the Register remain within this Judicial District. At any rate, the report of the last grand jury seems to point that way.

SHERIFF.

Jacob Proebstel, Jr., our candidate for Sheriff, is 27 years of age, 21 of which he has spent in our county. We point to him, and challenge the crew eaters to point to a single blemish in his character. It is charged that he has no "fixed habits." We suppose that means he has no "fixed habits" of hanging around saloons. The truth is, he is a young man of good character, sterling integrity, and fully competent to discharge the duties to which the people propose to elect him.

TREASURER.

Of David Schaole, our candidate for Treasurer, we have only this to say: He minds his own business, pays his own debts, and regularly settles with the County Commissioners. We do not know how he keeps his accounts, or whether he takes proper care of the county funds. The Grand Jury examined into the matter a few days since, and reported that his accounts were well kept and the funds all safe, and we are content to leave the subject where the Grand Jury left it. For further particulars enquire of Jesse Holbrook, one of the Democratic County Commissioners. The attempt to mislead voters by the statement, that Mr. D. R. Fales will not qualify if elected, is entirely "too thin." Mr. Fales will be elected and will qualify.

ASSESSOR.

The Register is particularly severe on Mr. M. Shea, Republican nominee for Assessor. There is good reason for this hostility, as it was principally through his efforts that the rascally transactions reported by the Grand Jury were brought to light.

AUDITOR.

Charles Brown, candidate for Auditor, is old enough to mind his own business. He has no intention of turning over the office, if elected, to any man. He was nominated for the position without his knowledge or consent, and solely out of consideration of his eminent fitness for the place.

In conclusion, we would say to voters: Scan the opposing tickets closely; see that no wool is pulled over your eyes; remember that the political "stock in trade" of the Democracy is detraction and villification. Remember that Republicans have used only honorable means to secure your votes—by calm appeals to your reason and common sense; remember that to-day is set apart throughout the United States for the funeral obsequies of defunct Democracy, and you have to choose whether by your vote you will throw a shovelful of earth on the rotten carcass, or seek to galvanize into life for a brief moment a little toe, the stench of which will shortly overcome you. Manhood is what we place our chief reliance upon, and we confidently believe that the result to-day will justify the wisdom of our course.

CLARKE COUNTY.

Perpetual motion has been discovered again—this time in Petaluma, Cal. The discoverer is a gentleman of that town, who has shown the local editor, not, it would appear, a working model, but "drawings," which have convinced the said editor that "the great problem has at last been solved." The cost of driving railway trains and steamers will be reduced to mills where it is now thousands of dollars. "The ignorant may scoff, and the unthoughtful deride," but the Petalumian man has "fetched it" at last. The inventor values his discovery at $20,000,000, which we call extremely moderate.

It has been finally determined that the beautiful Cathedral of Strasbourg is to be completely restored at a cost of over $125,000. Much of the masonry has to be rebuilt, and over 1,200 panes of glass are to be put in. The famous clock is said to be uninjured, and only to require cleaning. During the siege a shell entered one of the windows and buried itself in the organ without exploding. No essential part of the organ was injured, so that it can be played, but it is not impossible that the shell might fall from its position and explode. Aspirants to the office of organist are not numerous.

Germany claims that she will soon be independent of America as regards petroleum. The crude material has been recently discovered in Galicia in great abundance, and extensive preparations are making to fit it for market. In one single village twenty refineries are in operation. As yet all the production has been from surface boring, but when the wells are sunk to the depth of those in this country, the production it is estimated will be sufficient for the supply of a large part of Europe.

The Daily Oregonian.

CITY.

Ship Oregonian.—The English ship Oregonian, Captain Hugh Lester, arrived at this port last Saturday night from Astoria in tow of the Mercy. The Oregonian came in ballast to that port from Shanghai. She sailed from Shanghai on the 15th of last September, and arrived off the bar in 94 days. A pleasant passage was experienced from the commencement to the ending of the voyage. The Oregonian is comparatively a new vessel, having been launched from the dockyard one year ago last October. She sailed from St Johns, New Brunswick, the place where she was built, to Charleston, South Carolina, thence to Liverpool, thence to Cardiff, thence to Shanghai with a cargo of coal, and from that port to Portland. She is a very powerful and commodiously constructed vessel. Her dimensions are as follows: Entire length, 175 feet; breadth of beam, 34 feet; depth of hold, 17 feet. The registered capacity is 698 tons, but the Oregonian can carry with convenience and safety 1,170 tons of ballast to this port is rock. She is under charter to Queenstown. Cargo will be received at that place by Roger Meyer & Co. to carry a cargo of wheat to Queenstown. Cargo will be received as soon as the ballast has been removed from the vessel, which work will be commenced this morning. She will then have quick dispatch for her destination.

Church Guild.—From the Churchman we learn that a meeting was held on Wednesday evening, October 30th, in Trinity Church Sunday School room, for the purpose of forming a general Church Guild, embracing the members of Trinity Parish, St. Stephen's Chapel and St. David's Church, East Portland. Besides the clergy there were some fifteen laymen present. It was determined to organize for missionary and church work, under the name of "The Church Guild for Multnomah County." Several Articles of Association were adopted, and a committee appointed to report by-laws at an adjourned meeting to be held on Monday evening next at the same place. The purpose of this Association we understand to be the organizing the services of the laity for missionary and benevolent works. Among other things to be provided for is a series of sermons, essays, or lectures, to be delivered at stated times, by clergymen and laymen. The first of these sermons before the Guild will be by the Bishop in Trinity Church, on Sunday evening, Nov. 10th.

Bark Rob Dunn.—This bark, under command of Capt. John Minck, reached Flanders' wharf from Astoria last Saturday afternoon. The Red Deer sailed from Shanghai, China, on the 15th of September last, and after a propitious voyage arrived off the bar, having been out forty one days. This vessel was built in Scotland in 1863, and is in her ninth year. She has been principally employed in the tea trade. Although tolerably old, the Red Deer is as sound as when first launched, and gives promise of weathering the blasts of old Neptune for many years to come. From Shanghai she came in ballast to this port. Her cargo, since will be wheat, bound for some port in the United Kingdom. The dimensions of this bark are: Total length over all, 160 feet, beam, 32 feet; hold, 19 feet and 3 inches. She brought 300 tons—principally sand—of ballast which is being removed from the hull as rapidly as possible. The Red Deer is chartered by Messrs. Rogers, Meyer & Co. of this city. In a few days she will be ready for the reception of cargo.

Settled.—The settling process through which the Clarendon Hotel has passed during the present season, has wrought destructive consequences to the interior of the building. Large patches of the plastering has "disintegrated," and parting company with the laths, descended to the floor, leaving the walls in a ragged condition. Some of the panes of glass in the front windows have been shivered by the settling of the structure. The building has been recently braced underneath, and filled nearly up to the foundation timbers with earth. Such precautions have been taken, that the hotel cannot possibly settle any more. Workmen are at present engaged in bracing the foundations, and plasterers are commencing to line the walls with a new coat of lime, sand and hair.

A Fine Edifice.—The new Trinity Church is rapidly approaching completion, and seems now to lack almost nothing but the windows. These were made in London and are expected to arrive in Portland in a few weeks. This beautiful church will be a striking monument of the taste and skill of its accomplished architect, whose sudden death has so recently occurred. The fine organ, built in Boston, is already in the church, and will be put in place as soon as the windows are in. One of Menseley's bells, weighing 2,000 pounds, has been given to the church by its early and liberal friend, Mr. Beej. Stark, of New London, Conn. But little remains to be done now to make this church complete in all its parts, and well appointed for its sacred uses.

The Women Mean Business.—The ladies who desire to cast their votes with their country's friends are requested to meet at Mrs. Duniway's residence, on E street, between Sixth and Seventh, today, at 2 P. M. sharp. They are also requested to urge their gentlemen friends to accompany her to the polls, for "When a woman will she will, you may depend on't." Stand aside, gentlemen.

Installation of Officers.—At a regular meeting of Concordia Grove No. 1, L. A. O. D., held last Friday night, the following elected officers, to serve for the ensuing term, were installed by D. D. H. Bohlmann: N. A., G. Nupino, V. A., F. Tyson, R. Sec., Otto Treuer, F. Sec., T. A. Pilkmann, Treas., C. A. Landenberger, I. G., Wm Faobs.

Divorces.—Chicago will soon have to look to her laurels in divorce matters. Portland is a mere speck compared with the Queen City, but she is some on divorces, as the records of the Court will serve to show. There are 23 divorce cases to dispose of at the next term of the Circuit Court which will convene next Monday.

Overland.—A meeting was held last evening by the Directors of the Portland Bridge Company at the Company's office, at which the following officers were elected: President, J C Hawthorne, Secretary, Eugene Semple, Treasurer, Edwin Cowell. A meeting will be held by the Directors next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Iron Iron.—The schooner Alice Buole arrived last Sunday evening at this port. She brought a assorted cargo and also about 200 tons of rail road iron for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. The miscellaneous freight will be discharged, after which the schooner will proceed to Kalama and discharge the rails.

New Wing.—The new wing of the Bishop Scott Grammar school is nearly completed, and will be ready for occupancy, so far as the school room and chapel are concerned, in ten days. The remaining portions of this building is greatly unpretending addition, and it is now one of the finest looking edifices in our city.

Military Prisoner.—Two soldiers arrived on the steamer Geo. S. Wright from Sitka, having in custody a prisoner under sentence of court martial to confinement for one year at Fort Alcatraz. The prisoner will be sent to San Francisco on the next steamer.

Arrived.—The little steamer Geo S Wright arrived Monday from Sitka and way ports. She brought a few passengers and a cargo of coal for the Gas Company.

Criminal Cases.—There are 21 criminal cases to be disposed of at the coming term of the Circuit Court which will convene next Monday.

Off.—The steamer Ordinance succeeded in getting off the mud at the mouth of the Wallamet some time during Sunday.

L. R Society.—The usual meeting of the "Ladies' Relief Society" will take place to day (Tuesday) at 2 o'clock.

Wharf Repaired.—Some necessary repairs are being made to Moffett & Stephen's wharf.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

We call attention to the card of Messrs Walter Moffett and M. Koshland, who have engaged in the business of forwarding and commission merchants, at the corner of Front and Main streets. This firm have excellent facilities for shipping and storage, and are both reliable and good business men.

H. Rosenfeld & Co. are now completely established in their fine store, corner of Front and Ash streets, and offer inducements to purchasers which will be sure to draw them a large trade. No finer assortment or better place to buy can be found in the city. They have large stocks of everything in the tobacco line.

GRANT AND WILSON.

GRAND AND ENTHUSIASTIC REPUBLICAN RALLY AT THE COURT HOUSE LAST EVENING.

The Grant and Wilson rally at the Court House last evening was a most marked and signal success in the cause of Republicanism.

At a little past 7 o'clock in the evening the Last Portland Band formed at the corner of Alder and Second streets and marched through the principal streets of the city. The band was followed by about fifty of our colored citizens, each bearing in his hand a torch and wearing cloaks around their shoulders, on each of which were the words "Grant Invincibles." The streets and sidewalks were thronged with a streaming tide of humanity, all moving as if by a common impulse towards the general rendezvous—Court House. When the procession arrived at that place the room was literally jammed and the aisles and doorway filled with persons unable to find seats. At the meeting was called to order by Mr. Malarky, and the first speaker of the evening introduced to the audience.

MRS A. J. DUNIWAY

came forward and addressed the meeting for about fifteen minutes. She made some very pertinent remarks on the general political issues of the day, and concluded by urging all present—both men and women—to go to the polls to day and cast their suffrages for Grant and Wilson. She was greeted with prolonged and thundering applause during her remarks. When she took her seat the old walls of the Court room fairly trembled with the shouts and cheers sent up from hundreds of throats.

EX GOV GIBBS

was next introduced, who made a short and stirring address to the Republicans. His remarks, although necessarily brief, were no plain, practicable and forcibly practical that they were not only calculated to strengthen and confirm the vacillating and weak, but sufficient to convince the most obdurate that the interest of the Government demanded the re election of Grant to the Presidency. He would have sat down at the expiration of the time allotted him, but continued and vociferous shouts of "go on, go on," induced or rather compelled him to continue for some time. He at length sat down amidst intense applause.

GEO. P. RILEY, ESQ.,

was the next speaker announced. Mr. Riley, who we can appropriately call the "Fred Douglas of Oregon," did not speak to exceed three minutes," but his address was a most beautiful, eloquent tribute to the military services rendered the nation by Gen. Grant. His remarks thrilled the audience to the heart, and by his style fairly electrified his hearers. Again and again the building vibrated with cheers as Mr Riley resumed his seat.

H. W. SCOTT, ESQ.,

came forward and addressed the vast assemblage for a short time. His appearance was greeted with great enthusiasm. Without any disposition to make disparaging comparison, we must accord to Mr. Scott the credit of making the best speech of the evening. He had evidently studied it with much care. Logically and in its practical application to the present issues, it was an effort calculated to reflect credit on the speaker and the occasion. He followed briefly the histories of the two parties now arrayed against each other, and explained what were the real issues of the hour. He demonstrated by the most logical and powerful conclusions, who were the true friends of the country, and who could be trusted with the reins of the Government. One party had rescued the country from destruction under the successful leadership of Grant, and under that same skillful guidance had been conducted the administration to its most gratifying results. The Government answered every public demand, and every just expectation of the people had been realized. The victories, diplomatic and otherwise, of the administration during peace had been most marked and signal, and were scarcely less brilliant than those of the war. He concluded his address by admonishing the friends of the Government, whether Republicans or Democrats, to go to the polls today and cast their suffrages for Grant and Wilson.

HON. JOHN P. CAPLES

came next, and the announcement of his name by the Chairman evoked tumultuous applause. This gentlemen, with his usual magnetic style, fairly captured the audience, and bore them along with him to the close of his speech. At the close of his stirring address, Mr. Caples proposed three rousing cheers for Grant and Wilson, which were given with such a gusto as left no doubt in the minds of any one as to the political sentiments of those present, without distinction of sex. There appeared to be but one united voice, without dissension, and that was for the great standard bearers of the Republican party. Such shouts as rose three times to the heavens seemed to sound the knell of the "alliance party." The Chairman next introduced to the audience a practicing attorney of this city. Although a young man, and comparatively a novice in the art of political speaking, Mr Smith acquitted himself in a very creditable manner, and made a neat and handsome address.

The Chairman then appeared and read a letter from one of the announced speakers—Mr. Donovan—who stated it was impossible for him to be present, but his heart was enlisted in the good cause.

George H Durham and M. F. Mulkey, Esqs., both being in attendance at court in Clackamas county were also unable to address the meeting as announced.

The meeting then adjourned after giving three tremendous cheers for the candidates of the Republicans, and for the triumph of the cause of Liberty, Justice and Progress, at the polls to day.

The band re formed outside of the Court House and marched at the head of the delegation of the colored citizens through the streets back to their headquarters.

The meeting was the most enthusiastic and largest assemblage of citizens which we have ever seen at the Court House on any former political occasion. Great enthusiasm prevailed throughout the evening, and with it that proper degree of decorum not always observed in political gatherings. At least one third of the entire audience were composed of the most intelligent, refined and respectable ladies of Portland. The grand rally last evening affords overwhelming evidence that old Multnomah don't take any Greeley in her's, and that she will stand true and firm by the choice of the American people—Grant and Wilson.

Work boxes are now provided with musical machinery in the lid, which plays only when the box is opened. This is expected to operate as an encouragement to feminine industry, and revive the declining popularity of Needle work.

When babies are taken to the theater they ought to be checked and hung—at the door, like umbrellas. We know that we incur the displeasure of doting mothers by making this suggestion, but truth is mighty and must prevail.

The overskirt of one of our city belles slipped provokingly low, as she stood on the ferryboat, and exposed a file of the down town contemporary. That journal is usually "behind," but to have its whole file in that fix looks very unlike enterprise.

A new game at cards, called Pedro, a modification of the game of old sledge, is now played on the railroad trains. The five spot of trumps is pedro, and scores five in the game to whoever holds it at the conclusion. It can be taken by the six spot or any higher card. The number of the game is raised from seven to eleven, and the rest of the count is unaltered, by the rating in this order—high, low, jack, pedro, game. The last three counts to the final winner, and if he be fortunate enough to have all five, he scores nine points.

Seasonable Suggestions.

The heavy mists and cold night dews which characterize the present season are very trying to delicate organizations and in low lying and swampy localities they produce an enormous crop of intermittent fevers of various types and degrees of intensity. At this very time there are probably half a million of people in the United States suffering from periodical fevers by miasmatic fogs and exhalations. What makes the prevalence of this evil the more deplorable is the fact that it might in all cases be easily prevented. Malaria and damp produce little or no effect upon the system prefortified by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Every fall and spring hundreds of letters are received from persons residing in ague and fever districts, who state that while their neighbors are incapacitated for labor by that debilitating disease, they have been happily exempted from attack by the regular use of the great vegetable antidote to miasma. As a chilogogic or specific for intermittent and remittent fevers the Bitters may be justly accounted infallible. They eradicate the complaints in their most obstinate forms; but the wiser course is to forestall attack by taking the preparation as a preventive. The amount of productive labor withdrawn from active service during several months in the year by malarious maladies is immense, and the pecuniary losses to individuals, families and the nation from this cause is incalculable. Bear in mind that by toning and regulating the system with Hostetter's Bitters before the calam ty comes, it may always be escaped; and let it also be remembered that indigestion, general debility, biliousness, constipation, nervous complaints, and indeed almost all the disturbances and derangements of the physical system are controllable by this genial restorative.

Commercial Philanthropy.

It will be remembered that during our late civil war, England found time among other enterprises to prosecute her cotton interest in India. This she did to great temporary advantage. Among other experiments Sir Charles Wood, Secretary for India, introduced that of surmounting native industries by a system of protection to home production. A small import duty was placed on cotton yarn, and this applied to British goods as well as to the manufactured articles of other countries. The effect of this measure was magical. Spinning at once sprung up in all parts of Hindostan, the splendid dividends which these native companies declared tempted the capitalists of London and other money centers, and British capital eagerly sought the new fields of investment, British labor turned its face joyfully and with a new hope toward the far East, while cotton machinery became a regular feature in every commercial venture from Liverpool to Bombay and Calcutta.

Thus the new industrial policy threatened to draw a considerable portion of the surplus labor population from Great Britain, accompanied by an important transfer of machinery and capital. Such a thing was not to be thought of, and consequently a special deputation from Manchester waited on the Government and protested against its India policy. The conference between the Colonial Secretary and the Free-Trade delegation will prove interesting reading to those who wish to study the perfection of art in using the proper language in order to call a rose by another name. "Home Commercial Policy" was substituted for Home "Protective" Policy, and under these catchwords the Manchester men relieved themselves of a considerable amount of sound protective argumentation. It is sufficient for us to say, that the India policy of Sir Charles Wood was set aside and the "Home Commercial" policy of the mother country restored. Immediately the native factories were closed, the tide of immigration and flow of capital arrested, and the people of India were remanded to the barbarism of one pursuit, while the British laborer returned in despair to his pauper-life.

Thus so-called British free-trade holds her dependencies down to a state of semi-barbarism on one hand, while on the other she coops up her laboring population within the narrow insular limits of the United Kingdom. Distribution of wealth, population and industrial appliances for the benefit of mankind forms no part of that humanitarian philosophy in England's practice, which the free-trade writers are so fond of proclaiming in theory. A protective tariff in India would make that country blossom again as the rose. It would furnish an important outlet for the starving population of the British islands. It would transfer a knowledge of the appliances and forces of industrial civilization from Europe to Asia, and in doing this would as a missionary influence aid in the regeneration of a land now cursed by misrule, ignorance, sloth and idolatry. In the doing of this, want in Great Britain would be relieved and both countries be blessed and made happier. But then all this would be achieved at the expense of the "home commercial" policy, which, under the name of free-trade, seeks to make English colonies tributary merely to a system of imperial selfishness.

And yet there are those in Amorica who seek to reduce our own country to the position of a commercial colony of Great Britain; and these people express also the deepest sympathy with the English and American laboring man!—Boston Advertiser.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

MONDAY EVENING, Nov. 4, 1872.

Gold in New York to-day, 113¼.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 88c buying; 89c selling.

Wheat in Liverpool, 12s 5d; Club Wheat, 12s 2d@13s 4d.

Exchange by telegraph, via New York, 1⅝@1¼ per cent. premium; via San Francisco, par to ½ per cent. premium.

The Chicago Times, which was at one time a strong advocate of paying the national debt in depreciated currency, while it admits the advantages of a gold note currency for the Pacific coast, is hostile to the system on which it is based. The argument that all the gold act fico by gold-note banks would be thrown on the market, depressing the premium and stimulating a large export of specie, is just as applicable to any process by which "legal tenders" could be placed on a specie-paying basis, and in either case it has really no force. A premium depressed on gold is linked with a corresponding appreciation of legal tenders, and every such advance is a step towards the one great object of a currency redeemable all over the country in specie. The Times finds that gold-note banks are not available in its own locality, and that they are available on this coast, and this fact we suppose accounts in a great measure for its adverse criticism. That journal sets forth the advantages of the system to bankers as follows:

Suppose a Board of Bank Directors to be deliberating whether they will invest $1,000,000 in the gold note business; and suppose the prevailing bank rate of interest to be ten per cent. They will then figure in this way: "If we loan our million over our counter it will bring us in $100,000 a year. If we invest it in the note business we will receive, in the first place, $1,000,000 of six per cent. bonds, bringing us in $60,000 a year, and we shall receive, in the second place, $930,000 in notes to lend over our counter, bringing us in $80,000; total, $140,000 against $100,000 if we do not issue notes; balance in favor of the note scheme, $40,000. But if the law requires us to hold twenty-five per cent. reserve against the notes, which it probably does not, we shall have to hold $200,000 of gold against our $1,000,000 of notes at ten per cent., bringing us in $20,000. This, added to the $60,000 interest on our bonds, gives "a total profit of $120,000 a year," "or $20,000 more than we would realize if we should not issue notes."

A bank organized in a country town with a capital of $100,000 invests that amount in Government stocks, which are now at par. It receives $90,000 of gold notes, which, loaned at ten per cent., which is quite below the country rates, will earn $8,000, or at twelve per cent., $9,000. Interest on $100,000 bonds, $6,000. Interest loans on $90,000 notes, $9,600; total, $15,600. The loss of interest on specie reserve would probably be made up by incidental profits. There are some other incidental advantages, such as the appreciation of Government bonds and the probable extension of the limit to ninety per cent. of gold notes on the securities. If the advantages are quite as great as the Times affirms, bankers here will probably be the last to quarrel with them.

The Hop Crop of '72.

A New York paper of recent date says, "The latest advices from Europe represent the German and English Hop harvests as having been much smaller than was anticipated at the commencement of the gathering. The crop there has not only been what is termed a top one, but the storms of September have seriously injured the quality. In many plantations not a pound has been gathered. It is estimated by reliable parties that but one-third of the yield of both countries will be really of first quality, while a large quantity will be but little better than rubbish." Dealers were offering 30c in the interior of New York State, while producers were generally holding for 35@40c. The receipts at New York had been light, and together with the advance in the interior, had put up prices. Sales of 600 bales were noted at 27@35, which is a considerable improvement on rates prevailing a week ago. The same paper says: "The Wisconsin crop, which will amount to some 16,000 bales, is generally poorer than ever before known, the growth having been deficient in strength, besides being over dried, seriously impairing their value to the consumer." From this intelligence it seems that there is still a prospect that the producer in this country may yet receive a remunerative price for his product.

Effects of the Coal Rise.

The recent advance in the prices of Coal and Iron in England is working greatly to the advantage of the shipbuilding interests of the United States. According to a recent report of the Wilmington (Delaware) Board of Trade, iron ships and steamers can now be built in the Delaware ship-yards within 12 per cent., exclusive of the gold premium, of what they would cost on the Clyde. It is also stated that this margin of 12 per cent. would be entirely removed if the same inferior quality of iron were used on American vessels as is employed in English steamers.

The Petroleum Embargo

A late Eastern exchange says that operations remain almost entirely suspended in the Oil regions of Pennsylvania, the stringency of the blockade being occasionally enforced by the burning of "the jigging" of wells where pumping is still continued, the latest exploit of that kind being the destruction of a well at Foxburg "by causes unknown to many." The fact that the "fire fiend" should thus be found on the side of the popular movement exercises a very marked influence upon parties who are disposed to continue pumping. It is now proposed, and the plan will probably be adopted, to continue the blockade for another month. A movement has also been organized to form an organization for the permanent limitation of petroleum production, so as to completely control prices, but whether the worse and obsolete features of Trades Union violence are to be invoked to ensure unanimity remains to be seen. Meantime the price of Oil is advancing much more slowly than was anticipated, giving rise to the doubt whether the producers may not, after all, have mistaken their remedy.

Miscellaneous.

There are now 21 vessels on their way from Chinese ports to ports on the Pacific coast, being an increase over any former years.

Watts Brother, of St. Joe on the Yamhill river, have stored 200 tons of grain in their warehouse. St Joe is immediately surrounded by fine agricultural lands, and will probably be quite a grain center in our State.

Wheat is quoted at Albany at 58c ₱ bushel, Dallas 75, Salem 65; Corvallis 55, Lafayette and St. Joe 60; Walla Walla 45. Olympia 55@60; Portland 70@73.

The Secretary of the Treasury authorizes the delivery of merchandise received from foreign countries, to be delivered in San Diego, without first coming to San Francisco, as heretofore.

The receipts of the United States the last fiscal year were $383,000,000; those of Great Britain in the same time, 372,765,000. We had, however, a surplus of $10,000,000—six times that of Great Britain. Our Government annually costs $166,550,000 beyond interest charges. Great Britain's costs $224,000,000. All the pensions of the British Government amount to five millions, our pension accounts foot up thirty four millions.

Only two mining companies paid dividends, in San Francisco, during October last, against six in the same month of last year.

It has been intimated that an effort will be made at the next session of Congress to amend the clause limiting the gold notes of any one bank to $1,000,000, so that a single institution may issue $5,000,000, or any amount for which security is deposited.

Including specie, the exports from New York since January 1st were $9,457,715 less than during the same period in 1871, while the imports were forty-three million greater this year than last!

The number of coal establishments and mines in the country is 2,550; hands employed under ground, 64,440; above ground, 20,365, total, 85,805. Capital, $80,087,-25., wages paid, $43,247,118. Total tons of coal mined, 31,942,119; value, $71,140,910.

Home Produce Market.

Wheat is arriving in liberal quantities, and were it not for the fact of the unusual low prices prevailing we might feel much encouraged by the indications of the enlarged movement in this cereal. But when we reflect that the best offer now is about $1.03 per 100 lbs, delivered and sacked, we hardly see any profit to be realized by the producer. The demand to-day seems to be a little better temporarily, owing to the arrival of the vessels now here to load.

Oats are also in better demand. The price shows indications of advance, but we quote the market active at $1 35@1 45 for good qualities.

Transactions in Barley are very limited and rates nominal. Not more than enough has arrived to satisfy the home demand.

All the Grain received this year so far, with the exception of a few small lots of Wheat coming to hand about the 1st of October, has been of an excellent quality, and is saved in good condition.

Potatoes are abundant and dull. The crop has doubtless been larger than was anticipated both here and in California, when the market is quoted fist.

Apples continue to arrive sufficient to supply the demand for local consumptions, but no important shipments have been or will be made. A greater portion retail from wagons at 75 cents per box, which is the uppermost margin.

Other fruits and vegetables, in their season are plentiful.

Dairy products of choice qualities are firm without any noticeable advance. Common butter is plentiful.

Eggs are getting scarcer and rates tending upwards the high price being 40 cents for fresh.

Shipping Intelligence.

The Alice Blanke brought to port about 600 tons of freight, and Geo S. Wright 150 tons of coal.

The bark Broward, at last accounts, was anchored at the head of Swan Island, awaiting the tide, to pass down to Astoria. She is destined for Hongkong with flour, lumber and passengers.

The steamship John L. Stephens will be due at this port to-morrow evening from San Francisco.

The steamer Geo. S. Wright arrived last night from Sitka and way ports with a cargo of coal for the Gas Company.

No vessels are now receiving cargo at this port.

The ship Grazmter, bark Red Deer and schooner Alice Blanke are all at Flanders' wharf discharging. The two former vessels are discharging ballast, and the latter, freight.

The ship Siam and bark Lock Dee, are both at Astoria. Their respective cargoes are completed, and the vessels will pass out to sea at the first opportunity.
